Total number of Patients admitted since the establishment of the Hospital, in 1802... ..

30,073

As far as the experience of this Hospital is a test of the prevalence of fever in the metropolis, there has been a marked decline in the epidemic during the past year. The admissions (901) were upwards of 800 less than in the preceding year, and they were very considerably less than in any of the last five years.

The males admitted nearly equalled the females, there having been 444 males and 457 females, an exception to the general rule, the excess of the female admissions being commonly considerably greater than this.

The monthly admissions varied from 93, the highest in January, to 60, the lowest in December. Distributed through the four quarters of the year, however, the admissions were pretty equal; being in the first quarter 217; in the second 210; in the third 259; and in the fourth 215.

The daily average number of patients in the Hospital throughout the year was 70.

Upwards of one-fourth (255) of the total admissions were not cases of fever, but of various acute diseases, in which the fever that took place was a secondary, not a primary, affection. Subtracting these cases from the total number of admissions, there remain 646, which may be regarded as the real number of fever cases. Of these there were of typhus fever, 274; typhoid, 214; scarlet fever, 85; and of the slight indisposition called febricula, 72.

During the last half of the year typhus was greatly predominant, numbering from January to July, inclusive, 231 cases, those of the typhoid form during the same period being only 54: on the other hand, in the latter months of the year, from August to December, the cases of typhoid fever rose to 160, and those of typhus sunk to 43.

The organic diseases under which the class of patients who were not affected with primary fever laboured, were chiefly diseases of the lungs, two-thirds of the deaths in these cases having been caused by pneumonia, pleurisy, bronchitis, and phthisis. The other maladies were, of Bright's disease of the kidneys, 6; diarrhoea, 2; puerperal fever, 2; and of apoplexy, hydrocephalus, lead poisoning, cirrhosis, disease of the heart, aneurism of the abdominal aorta, and parotid bubo, of each, 1.

Of the 97 fatal cases of fever, 64 were uncomplicated with any marked internal disease. In the remaining 33 the complications were, in typhus, of bronchitis, 6; bed sores, 6; parotid and submaxillary swellings, 4; pneumonia, 3; and of erysipelas, phthisis, empyema, anasarca, phlegmasia alba, and pyœmia, 1; in typhoid fever, of bed sores, 3; and of erysipelas, pneumonia, gangrene of the leg, parotid swelling, perforation of the intestine, and suppuration of the kidney, 1; in scarlet fever, of bronchitis, 1; and of erysipelas and pneumonia, 1.

The general mortality was 16 per cent. In the cases not properly fever it was 21 per cent.; in typhus, 21 per cent.; in typhoid fever, 12 per cent.; in scarlet fever, 12.6 per cent.; while in the class of domestic servants it was only 10 per cent.

The rate of mortality was swelled, as it always is, by the late period of disease at which many of the patients were admitted. Thus, of the 164 deaths, 88 died within a week after admission, and of these 27 within the second day; that is, nearly one-half of the total deaths occurred within a week after the admission of the patients.

From the register of cases it appears that nearly one-half of the total number of attacks occurred between the ages of 15 and 25, and that the period extending between the ages of 15 and 40, included upwards of two-thirds of the total number of attacks that occurred at all other ages.

On the other hand, the table of mortality shows that the proportionate number of deaths increased steadily with the advance of life. At 15 years of age, the mortality was $8\frac{1}{2}$ per cent.; at 25 years of age, it was 10 per cent.; at 30, it was 16 per cent.; at 40, it was 28 per cent.; at 50, it was 36 per cent.; and at 60, it was 75 per cent. From the general experience of this Hospital it appears that the risk of life from this formidable malady is twice as great at the age of 31 as it is at 11; nearly twice as great at 41 as at 21; five times as great at 61 as at 11; and nearly four times as great above 64 as at 21.

These facts involve social and moral consequences of the highest importance. Typhus is the disease of adult age. It is twice as mortal at the period of manhood, as it is at the period of puberty. It is also pre-eminently the disease of poverty. Precisely at the period when the poor have the greatest number of young children to support by their industry, this disease destroys the heads of the family. Hence, it becomes one of the main causes of widowhood and orphanage, and therefore of pauperism, as pauperism is of demoralization.

It must be obvious that an Institution which checks such a disease, which prevents its spread through the crowded and unventilated courts and alleys of this vast metropolis, benefits the community not merely by its alleviation of suffering, though that alleviation is a good beyond what can be estimated, but that it also proportionally lessens one of the greatest social evils of modern times.

There is reason to believe that the main provision which governs the admission of patients into this Hospital is not extensively known to the public; namely, that it is open gratuitously, night and day, to all poor and destitute persons, who are not in the receipt of parochial relief, and who are certified by some medical man to be labouring under fever. Destitution and fever of themselves give the claim to admission.

It may be further observed that this Institution, supported entirely by private contribution, has this peculiar claim on private benevolence, that it opens its door to the reception of domestic servants, when private families are visited by the calamity of fever. During the past year it has received nearly one hundred domestic servants, or considerably more than one-fifth of the total number of fever patients. In each of these cases, by the prompt removal of the sick from the dwelling-house to the wards of this Hospital, it has at once relieved the family, not alone from the anxiety, trouble, and expense inseparable from an outbreak of fever, but—what is of greater importance—from the danger of its spread to the other members of the household.

* * * Such benevolent persons as may be disposed to contribute to this charity are requested to intimate their intention to the Secretary, and they will be waited on by the Collector; or, if they pay to the Bankers, Messrs. HOARE, 37, Fleet-street, they will please to leave their Christian names and places of abode at the time of payment. Any errors in the list of subscribers will be thankfully corrected, on writing to the Secretary at the Hospital.

FORM OF BEQUEST.

The following form is recommended to those who may be disposed to become benefactors by will.

I give and bequeath to the Treasurer, for the time being, of the London Fever Hospital, established in 1802, to be applied for the purposes of the Institution, the sum of _____ pounds, to be paid out of such part of my personal estate as shall not consist of an interest in Land. The Receipt of such Treasurer to be a sufficient discharge.

LONDON FEVER HOSPITAL.

SUPPORTED BY VOLUNTARY CONTRIBUTIONS,
LIVERPOOL ROAD, ISLINGTON.

LAWS AND REGULATIONS.

OBJECTS OF THE INSTITUTION.

1. ALL poor persons (not being parochial paupers) and domestic servants of subscribers, labouring under contagious fever, and residing in the metropolis, or its neighbourhood, shall be considered proper objects of this charity, and shall be admitted gratuitously according to the next regulation. Parochial paupers, domestic servants of non-subscribers, and all inmates of other public charities (except medical hospitals), shall be admitted on the payment of such sum for each patient as the Committee shall from time to time determine.

2. On application for the admission of any patient to the Hospital, notice shall be immediately given to the resident medical officer, and the person after inspection may be admitted by an order signed by him, or on a certificate signed by any physician, surgeon, or apothecary, stating the disease to be fever of a contagious nature, or likely to become such. The order or certificate shall entitle the patient to admission, subject to the provisions contained in Rule No. 1, unless the case shall be deemed an improper one by the resident medical officer, or unless the Hospital shall be full.

GOVERNORS.

3. All subscribers of one guinea annually, or of ten guineas in one donation, shall be governors of this Hospital.

GENERAL MEETING AND ELECTION OF THE COMMITTEE.

4. A general meeting of the governors, of which ten days' previous notice must be given in three morning newspapers, shall be held every year, on the second Friday in February, or as near thereto as may be convenient, for the purpose of approving or rescinding the proceedings of the Committee for the preceding year; for receiving an annual report of the state of the funds; and for electing a president, vice-presidents, treasurer, honorary secretary, and other members of the Committee, for the ensuing year. At all Meetings connected with the affairs of the Hospital, a simple majority of the governors present and voting shall bind the minority, and in case of equality of votes, the Chairman shall have an additional or casting vote.

5. A special general meeting of the governors may at any time be called, by direction of the president or of the Committee; or on the requisition of any twelve governors, provided the requisition be made in writing to the secretary, and the purpose for which the same is summoned be published in three morning newspapers at least ten days prior to the next meeting; but the proceedings of such special general meeting, though acted upon pro tempore, shall not be deemed final until confirmed by another general meeting.

6. No new rule or law shall be made, nor shall any existing rule or law be repealed or altered until determined upon at a general meeting by a majority of governors present and voting, and until confirmed at a subsequent general or special meeting.

7. The presence of seven governors shall be necessary to constitute a quorum at general meetings, and without that number no business shall be transacted.

8. At the annual general meeting, a Committee, for the management of the Institution, shall be elected, consisting of the president, the vice-presidents, the treasurer, honorary secretary, and twenty-four other governors; four of which governors shall not have been members of the preceding Committee. They shall meet on the last Friday, or on such other day of every month as the Committee may appoint, and three members shall be necessary to constitute a meeting, and to transact business. A special meeting of the Committee may be called by the direction of the Treasurer, or by any three members of the Committee, on giving at least three days' notice of the same, and specifying the business for which it is called.

9. The Committee shall have authority to appoint sub-committees, whose reports shall be submitted to their consideration; they shall elect all the officers, except the physicians of the Hospital, and the honorary secretary, who shall be elected by the governors at large; and with the assistance of the medical officers shall form regulations and bye-laws for the internal management of the Hospital.

10. The resolutions of one meeting of the Committee shall not be rescinded by another, unless it be specially summoned for that purpose. All accounts, except such small sums as may be comprised under the item of petty cash, shall be submitted to the Committee at the monthly meetings, after having been duly examined by the secretary, the resident medical officer, and the house directors, and such accounts, if approved, shall be paid by cheques payable to order, signed in Committee by the chairman and one other member, or in case a Committee cannot be formed, by two house directors, and in all cases countersigned by the secretary. All the larger articles of supply, when practicable, shall be furnished by contract made after public tender. No expenditure for repairs of premises or any machinery shall be incurred without a written order from the Committee or house directors.

11. The Committee shall yearly publish a report of the state of the Hospital.

12. No person, being a member of the Committee, shall furnish for profit any goods, provisions, or other articles for the use of or on account of the Hospital, or be concerned in any contract for supplying the same, or be employed for hire, or wages, or profit, in any office or employment under the Charity.

TREASURER.

13. The treasurer, if present, shall take the chair at all meetings of the Committee in the absence of the president or vice-presidents. He shall keep an account at the bankers, and all monies received for the use of the Hospital shall be paid to such account; he shall honour all cheques signed, as provided in rule 10th; and the signature of the secretary shall be a sufficient warranty that the cheques purporting to be so signed are properly signed, and shall be an indemnity to the treasurer against risk.

AUDITORS.

14. Three gentlemen shall be appointed annually at the meeting of the Committee in November, who shall audit the accounts of the Institution for the current year, and approve an abstract of all receipts and disbursements to be prepared by the secretary, and laid before the annual general meeting in February.

MONTHLY DIRECTORS.

15. The Committee shall, at each monthly meeting, appoint three members of their own body as directors of the Hospital, of whom two shall be a quorum, and who shall continue in office until the next monthly meeting of the Committee.

16. They shall, from time to time, cause the bed-clothes and apparel belonging to the Hospital to be examined, and shall report thereon, if necessary, to the Committee. They shall inspect the tradesmen's bills, and take care that the provisions, bedding, clothing, furniture, and every article for the use of the Hospital be supplied on the most reasonable terms. They shall order in writing all permanent stores.

17. They shall be authorized in all respects to enforce the observance of the regulations of the Hospital; they shall notice and report to the Committee any irregularity or misconduct on the part of the officers, servants, or patients of the Charity; and shall, at every meeting of the Committee, cause a statement of the house-expenditure to be produced for the preceding month. They appoint the porters, nurses, and other menial servants of the Hospital, and dismiss them for misconduct.

PHYSICIANS.

18. There shall be two physicians, and two assistant physicians, who shall be fellows or licentiates of the Royal College of Physicians of London; and also a consulting-surgeon, who shall be a Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons.

19. The physicians and assistant-physicians shall be elected by the governors at large; and no governor shall be qualified to vote, unless he shall have become a governor three months before a vacancy is declared.

20. One of the physicians shall visit the Hospital, at least once every day; and at such times as they may deem necessary. Their duties shall be restricted to the wards, and shall not extend to anything relating to the general management of the Hospital; but they shall have the power of dismissing any patient or convalescent, for refractory conduct, or disobedience of orders.

ASSISTANT-PHYSICIANS.

21. In case of the illness or necessary absence of either of the physicians, one of the assistant-physicians shall attend regularly in his stead. Such attendances to be reported to the Committee.

HOSPITAL PUPILS.

22. No medical student shall be permitted to visit the Hospital, unless in company with one of the physicians, and unless he is regularly entered, or registered as a pupil.

RESIDENT MEDICAL OFFICER.

23. The resident medical officer shall reside constantly at the Hospital, and shall devote himself entirely to the duties of his office; and previously to his election he shall be required to produce satisfactory testimonials to the Committee.

24. He shall superintend the patients between the visits of the physicians, and the dispensary shall be exclusively under his control. In the absence of the Committee and house directors he shall be recognized as the head of the establishment.

25. Accurate registers of the patients admitted, as well as of the remedies employed for their recovery, shall be kept—which registers shall be the property of the Hospital; he shall produce a medical report every month, to be laid before the Committee.

26. When the number of patients shall be great and he shall require aid, he shall, with the sanction of the Committee, appoint a medical assistant, if his qualifications be approved by the physicians, at such remuneration as the Committee shall from time to time determine, and he shall be responsible for the acts of such assistant.

HONORARY SECRETARY.

27. There shall be an honorary secretary, who shall also be a member of the Committee, and chosen annually with them. He shall be at liberty to attend all deputations to public bodies and private persons. He shall communicate with persons concerning the affairs of the Hospital during the intervals between the monthly meetings of the Committee, and shall report to the Committee at their next meeting all special or important events that shall have occurred within his knowledge during the month. He shall also assist the Treasurer in the discharge of his duties when necessary.

SECRETARY AND HOUSE-STEWARD.

28. The duties of this officer shall be to reside in the Hospital, and in the absence of the house directors to have the management of the domestic affairs of the Hospital under the general superintendence of the resident medical officer. He shall be required to enter into a bond, with sufficient sureties for the due and faithful performance of his duties. He shall also perform the several duties specified in the bye-laws.

MATRON.

29. The duties of the matron shall principally relate to the wards, the kitchen, and the laundry. She shall exercise a strict superintendence over the nurses; shall have the charge of the linen, bedding, glass, crockery, and ordinary kitchen and scullery stores, subject to the general supervision of the house steward; and shall visit every ward of the Hospital at least three times in the day. She shall also perform the several duties specified in the bye-laws.

COLLECTOR.

30. The duties of this officer shall be—

To call on subscribers and collect all donations and subscriptions of the Hospital; to give only authorized printed receipts for the same; to attend all meetings, when required; to keep correct lists, and duplicate lists, of all donations and subscriptions, with the residences of the donors and subscribers made up from day to day; to pay weekly all moneys he may receive to the bankers; to deliver weekly to the secretary reports in writing of all moneys received and paid, with the balance at the bankers; to keep the accounts regularly entered in the collector's cash book; to deliver a copy of the annual report to each subscriber, and to give such security, with sureties, for the due and faithful performance of his duties, as may be required.

NURSES.

31. The head nurse in each ward shall attend principally to the patients; and to the keeping of the wards clean and quiet.

32. The under-nurses shall be under the direction of the head-nurses, and shall perform the more menial offices of the Hospital.

PORTER AND ENGINEER.

33. The porter and the engineer shall be employed as the Committee or directors may think proper. They shall not absent themselves without the permission of the house-directors, or resident medical officer.

TRUSTEES.

34. The legal estate in the lands, buildings, and premises of the Hospital shall be vested in three trustees, new trustees being appointed when vacancies occur, at a general meeting of the governors.

35. All legacies of £100 and upwards, unless otherwise directed by testators, shall be invested for the benefit of the Hospital in the names of three trustees.

36. No variation in the usual gratuities and fixed salaries shall be made, unless the Committee be specially summoned for the purpose, and unless the proposed addition, or diminution, be confirmed by a subsequent Committee.

· BYE-LAWS.

37. The bye-laws which shall from time to time be made by the Committee shall be open to the inspection of any subscriber, and shall contain, among other things, a full specification of the duties of the resident medical officer, the matron, and other officers of the Institution, with the practice usually adopted for their election: which specification shall be read over to every individual before his appointment, and referred to on all occasions of doubt.
